Baths to get £1m revamp in plans

WALSALL Gala Baths will get a £1 million makeover under revived ambitious plans. The borough council wants to invest in the town centre baths despite having to make millions of savings in the next year.

Firm plans are now being drawn up to include a changing area, sauna room, extended fitness suite and pool improvements. The prospect of transforming the outdated Tower Street site, more 50 years old, was first raised last year.

But the former Conservative-led council then revealed it was looking at the option of replacing the Gala Baths and creating a new swimming pool and multi-storey car park complex. However, with the Labour group now in control, the building is set to be maintained and given a £1m spruce-up in the 2015/16 budget.

Leisure chief Councillor Khizar Hussain said: "The refurbishment of Gala Baths has been included in the draft budget capital programme to reflect the council's earlier commitment to consider an investment of around £1m to extend the life of this town centre facility. It will complement the recent decision to reconstruct Bloxwich and Oak Park leisure centres."

Village loos may be shut

PUBLIC toilets in Pelsall will be closed to save £12,000 under plans revealed by the council.

The council facilities in the old library are currently open from 7.30am to 3pm, Monday to Friday. The authority says there are toilets in the nearby Pelsall Village Centre which is open for longer than the old library.

A report to the council, led by Councillor Sean Coughlan, states: "There will be minimal to no impact in light of availability of toilets at the Pelsall Village Centre which is open for longer than the old library."

COUNCIL FIGHTS VERMIN THREAT

ENVIRONMENTAL health officers in Walsall have issued over 450 enforcement notices over the last four years in the battle against waste which it is feared may attract vermin.

A total of 455 instances have been cited with residents and businesses ordered to clear away accumulations of rubbish on land across the borough.

Walsall Council chiefs say the majority of issues since April 2010 has been around residential properties rather than commercial.

They insist the issuing of statutory notices is only taken when necessary due to the state or lack of co-operation. Councillor Khizar Hussain, portfolio holder for community and leisure, said: "In the first instance we would try to resolve any issues directly with the individual or business owner."

Reasonable

"Statutory notices are served either when a situation is so bad that immediate action is required to resolve it or when an informal approach has not worked. We always try to be reasonable but those who are responsible for these crimes must understand that they are wasting people's hard-earned income when we have to carry out clean-up operations and we will not tolerate this kind of behaviour."

It comes as there has been a spate of hygiene issues with takeaways and restaurants across the borough this month. There have been four forced to temporarily close amid concerns over sub-standard conditions. In the most recent case flies and rat droppings were found inside premises. It emerged last week that an average of 100 extra cases of fly-tipping each month were recorded in Walsall during the last year, although the number of cases of littering fell.

Problems with piles of rubbish being dumped across parts of the borough over the last two years.

In 2012/13 there was an average of 172 fly tipping incidents per month which increased to 282 during the last year. However, during the same time period the average amount of cases of litter in a month dropped from 111 to 88.

Cameras to capture fly-tipping have already been introduced by Walsall Council as part of measures to tackle the issue.

Council bosses, who launched a £100 reward scheme for information leading to prosecutions, revealed earlier this year it had cost £206,311 to deal with such dumped rubbish over a 12-month period.

Authorities across the country are being asked to take part in a parliamentary inquiry into litter and fly-tipping by the Communities and Local Government Select Committee. This is to get evidence about how big a problem it is and to assess whether current policies are sufficient.

Plane paintings take off for centenary

Local artist Ian Edwards with his painting of WWI planes at Bloxwich Library

Ian's great uncle Private Ernest

PAINTINGS of First World War planes have gone on display at a library in Walsall to commemorate the centenary of the Great War.

The artwork, by self-taught artist Ian Edwards, aged 50, of Minewood Close, Bloxwich, who works in the aerospace industry, is being displayed at Bloxwich Library until November 14.

Nine acrylic painting of planes depicting the Royal Flying Corps before, during and after the war have been included in the exhibition.

One of the paintings shows a Sopwith Camel British biplane in combat with a Fokker triplane over the Western Front in 1914.

Mr Edwards, whose great uncle, Private Ernest Merry from the King's Royal Rifle Corps died in the Battle of the Somme in July 1916, aged 21, said: "I have an interest in aviation and have been painting for years."

"I have done various exhibitions around the Midlands."

Cameron in tribute as MP set to retire

PRIME Minister David Cameron has paid tribute this week to veteran Aldridge-Brownhills MP Sir Richard Shepherd, who has announced he is standing down at the next election.

The 71-year-old said the change to bring in fixed five-year Parliaments had made him consider how he would be 77 by the time he finished another full term. He was elected to the constituency in 1979, in the election that brought Margaret Thatcher to power, and has held the seat ever since.

Sir Richard was knighted last year but is known as one of the Tories' most rebellious MPs - something that once saw him stripped of the Tory whip in the 1990s for his stance on the European Union.

Official figures say he has voted against his own party more than one in 10 times.

Mr Cameron said: "Richard Shepherd has enjoyed a long and distinguished career in Westminster, providing a strong voice for his constituents in Aldridge-Brownhills for three and a half decades. I was delighted when Richard was honoured for his long-standing public service last year and wish him the very best for a happy and well-deserved retirement."

Brave Margot loses battle

INSPIRATIONAL youngster Margot Martini has lost her brave battle with leukaemia. The two-year-old was first diagnosed a year ago and her family's campaign to raise awareness of her illness touched the hearts of millions.

Tributes have poured in with more than 1,000 messages left on the Team Margot Facebook page.

Her parents said she died peacefully at home on Monday, surrounded by those who loved her.

Tories need to act as MP steps down

Sir Richard in 1988

THE decision of veteran Conservative MP Sir Richard Shepherd to stand down leaves his party facing a race against time to find a new candidate.

The Aldridge-Brownhills MP is the third Tory in the Black Country and Staffordshire to announce he will not be contesting his seat in the General Election next May.

The Conservatives are already trying to find someone to replace Chris Kelly as candidate in Dudley South after the Eurosceptic MP decided he would only serve a single term.

In Aldridge-Brownhills, the party will need to have a new candidate in place quickly to get on the campaign trail and build support.

Sir Richard said the decision by the coalition government to bring in fixed term, five-year Parliaments had made him consider his age. He will be 77 by the 2020 General Election.

Sir Richard said: "I was always against fixed-term Parliaments because it deprives people of the vote in the case of a Government collapsing, when normally another election would take place. It's an unusually long time for a Parliament to last."

In a letter to his Conservative association, Sir Richard said: "I cannot express adequately my gratitude to you and all of the officers and members of the Aldridge-Brownhills Conservative Association, both past and present, for the support and confidence given to me over so many years."

Tips may shut on two days in cutbacks move

TIPS in Walsall will be shut two days a week to save nearly £100,000, it has emerged.

The sites in Fryers Road, Bloxwich and Merchants Way, Aldridge, face a cut in their opening hours despite council bosses revealing plans to make bin collections fortnightly instead of weekly in a move which they say could increase demand at the tips.

Both sites are currently open six days a week, and from 8am to 7pm on one of those days. But under the new plans, they will only open 9am to 5pm, with the Bloxwich facility closing on Thursday and Friday, and Aldridge on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Governors recruited to help schools

MORE than 30 new governors have been recruited across Walsall following plans to improve struggling schools in the wake of a damning Ofsted report.

A recruitment campaign was launched as part of an action plan drawn up by the council after an inspection found that the number of children in inadequate schools was too high.

The draft plan states 'strong governors' will be sent to support weaker governing bodies and advisers from the local authority would also be sent into schools where leadership is said to be less than good.

It also suggests carrying out early reviews of schools at risk of dropping a category in an Ofsted inspection or any school due to be inspected within the academic year to see if further support is required.

The plans aim to increase the proportion of pupils in the borough who attend 'good or better schools' by 10 per cent in 2014-15 and by a further five per cent in 2015-16.

Lynda Poole, assistant director for access and achievement, said 32 school governors had been recruited and active recruitment would continue.

It adds: "This service affects all residents in the borough. The council has a statutory duty to provide a Household Waste Recycling Centre for residents. Only the opening hours will change; the nature of the service will not change. Residents will be able to dispose and recycle the same type of materials as they do now. It is likely that queueing times at the site, particularly at weekends, will be longer."

Changes will also see opening hours drop from 113 during the summer, to just 80 all year round. In summer, the Bloxwich site is open from 8am to 7pm on Wednesdays while Aldridge opens 8pm to 6pm Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

It comes as the council has unveiled its controversial masterplan to save £86 million from its budget over the next four years

Monster carving by artist

Creature feature — Simon Patel from Walsall with his spooky wooden carving

IT took 40 hours to create and is sure to send a chill up spines this Halloween. This creepy looking wooden carving of Frankenstein's monster has been created by talented artist Simon Patel from Walsall.

The 38 year old usually carves his impressive creations out of pumpkins every Halloween but has recently turned his attention to wood. "This one took about a week," he said. "I worked a few hours every day. For years I've carved pumpkins but recently I've turned my attention to wood.

It's a lot harder to carve things out of wood compared to pumpkins as you'd imagine."

Mr Patel started off with a log and used a chainsaw to create the basic shape. Then he used a micro carver tool to add depth to the carving. A Dremel tool is used for the detail and hand sanding is done to smooth down any bumps. The finishing touch is a coat of varnish.

Mr Patel, of Primley Avenue, has sold his latest carving to Eerie Ink tattoo parlour in Walsall where it will go on display.

Firm gears up for a new £5.4m contract

AN engineering business has won a new contract that will be worth £5.3 million over the next four years.

Chamberlin's contract to supply turbo charger bearing housings for diesel engines in cars starts in January. They will be made at the light castings foundry at its Chuckery Road site in Walsall. It is expected to contribute revenue of £1.27m in the first year.

Kevin Nolan, chief executive of Chamberlin, said: "I am delighted to announce this major contract win. It demonstrates the foundry's ability to compete on a truly global footprint in its specialisation – the design of small castings with complex internal passages produced in high volumes."

He said the contract with a leading European automotive industry components and parts supplier would not mean any immediate increase in the size of the workforce at Walsall but would secure work.

The group employs more than 400 across the Chamberlin and Hill sites in Walsall and Leicestershire; Russell Ductile Castings, Scunthorpe, and engineering businesses Exidor, Cannock, and Petrel, Birmingham.

Bus company take on route

A BUS service that was funded by a councillor is being taken on by a transport firm for a trial run.

Walsall Councillor Richard Worrall sponsored the 35A route between Walsall town centre, Rushall, and Aldridge on Sunday evenings. Now Arriva Midlands has agreed to fund the service but warns it could withdraw it if not enough people use it.

Councillor Worrall said: "I feel they have done me and my constituents a big favour, and the key message stays the same — use it or lose it."

Route revamp

A MAIN route in Walsall has closed for 13 months as part of a multi-million pound revamp of the road network. Bentley Mill Way is being widened and traffic lights are operating near to the James Bridge Aqueduct. Drivers are warned of diversions.

Care issues are brought to fore

COUNCILLORS have spoken to young people leaving care in Walsall about their experiences – and said it was ‘eye-opening’.

Members of a panel set up by the council wanted to find out what their concerns are. Councillor Eddie Hughes, scrutiny panel chair, said: “I know that I speak for all members involved in the working group when I say that we found the experience eye opening.”

“It was very powerful to speak to the care leavers themselves and hear about their concerns and the sometimes quite grown up issues they have to face.”

Church to mark war centenary

A WEEKEND of events will be held at a church in Walsall to mark the 100th anniversary of the First World War.

On November 8 and 9, St Gabriel’s Church in Walstead Road will display sculptures made of paper by pupils at Joseph Leckie Academy.

At 10am on November 8 there will also be a dedication of the memorial garden, and the following day at same time a service of Remembrance will be held.

The weekend will culminate in performances of poetry, music and stories at 4pm.

Block makeover wins top award

A MULTI-million pound makeover of a tower block in the Black Country has received a national award.

Walsall Housing Group spent around £3 million on an eco-friendly renovation of the 65-home block at Austin House.

The building in Lower Forster Street is heated by a ground-source heat pump and the housing group received an award for retrofit project of the year at the Sustainable Housing Awards in London.

Kitchen firm in move to new site

A FAMILY-owned kitchen firm based in Bloxwich has moved to bigger premises to cope with demand from customers. Amber Kitchens has relocated its showroom to a larger site in High Street with the creation of one new job.

The firm that supplies kitchen, bedroom and bathroom furniture was set up in 2010 by Stuart Tunnicliffe. He said: “Since opening the company has gone from strength to strength.”

Takeaway shut over hygiene problems

A RESTAURANT and takeaway found swarming with flies and rat droppings has become the fourth business in a fortnight to be closed by environmental health officers in Walsall town centre.

Chipmasters in Lower Hall Lane was issued with a hygiene emergency prohibition notice and was closed on Friday. Council officers say they found a large number of flies throughout the shop crawling over food preparation surfaces, equipment and crockery including mugs and plates used by customers.

Walsall’s community and leisure chief Councillor Khizar Hussain said: “This is the fourth business to be closed by environmental health officers in the space of a fortnight and once again shows we will not tolerate sub-standard conditions which pose a serious health risk to the public.”

“Although there was evidence of rats present I understand the insanitary conditions by themselves were a serious cause for concern. This gives out a clear message that we will not hesitate to close a business on the grounds of cleanliness alone where warranted.”

Society art in the frame

THE Walsall Society of Artists has opened its 65th annual exhibition featuring a variety of work by its members.

More than 180 paintings and drawings, together with 3D artwork by some 78 artists, are on show on the fourth floor of the New Art Gallery, Walsall. The exhibition, open until November 30, includes oil paintings, and various other art media.

Paintings and artworks by members will be available for sale and on each Saturday WSA artists will be on hand to talk about their methods.

Police survey bid

PEOPLE have until tomorrow to have their say on police priorities in the Black Country for the coming year. The Local Police and Crime Boards are consulting on plans and want help from the public. The survey is at the www.snapsurveys.com/wh/s.asp link

Hospital hit by 48,000 patient no-shows

ALMOST 50,000 appointments were missed by patients in just 12 months, say bosses at Walsall Manor Hospital.

Thousands of outpatients failed to turn up at the hospital and sessions at community clinics wasting millions of pounds.

Hospital chiefs have admitted though that some of those who didn’t arrive hadn’t been able to get through on an outpatients appointment line to cancel.

Ian Baines, director of finance and performance at Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust said: “It is always frustrating when patients do not arrive for their scheduled appointments. Obviously, this does have financial implications for the trust but more importantly, the appointment could have been used by another patient, had notice of cancellation been given.

“However, we are also aware that patients have been experiencing problems getting through on our outpatients appointments line and we are currently working hard to fix this.”

Bosses couldn’t provide a breakdown of the money wasted but say for those appointments with a consultant the cost of a missed session can range from £167 to £253 a go.

In total 48,202 didn’t attend their scheduled visits. The missed appointments included sessions such as seeing a consultant or physiotherapist. The highest cost for a missed consultant appointment is £253 for geriatric medicine, and the lowest is £104 in dermatology.

The trust which has targeted savings of £10.7 million this year has already racked up a deficit of more than £4m

It has been struggling to deal with increasing number of patients, with more people coming from Staffordshire.

It was recently fined £120,000 because patients had not been seen quickly enough.

The trust was told to pay the cash for failing to meet its four hour target between July and September this year. A total of 88 per cent of patients were seen within four hours or less between July and September.

Margot, the face of hope in a rollercoaster battle

Library closure plans spark protest

Campaigners show their feelings over the possible closure of Pheasey Library at the Collingswood Centre

A CAMPAIGN to save a Walsall library that is to close as part of budget savings has attracted more than 1,000 hits on social media.

Residents in Pheasey are up in arms after council chiefs revealed it is among eight communities where a van will operate instead.

Walsall Council wants to make savings of £29 million next year, with 487 jobs set to be axed. A further £57m will be cut over the following three years.

Pheasey Library based at the Collingswood Centre, in Collingswood Drive, is among the services earmarked to close along with 12 children’s centres, and Walsall Museum in Lichfield Street. In addition to setting up a Facebook page to vent their feelings campaigners have launched a petition.

Councillors have also held a meeting with library users to discuss the closure move and campaigners have visited the site to show their concern about the proposals.

Ward representative Councillor Chris Towe said: “We are shattered by the decision taken to close the facility. It is extremely popular and well-used. It is one of the libraries that are furthest away from Walsall town centre. People will have to travel to get to the nearest library building in Aldridge. Ours is vibrant with reading groups and lots of children come in to do their homework. The Save Pheasey Library Facebook page has so far attracted about 1,000 hits.”

Under plans five libraries will shut next year, including Beechdale, Pheasey, South Walsall, Streety and Walsall Wood. Three others in Blakenall, New Invention and Rushall will close the following year.

The move will save the authority £565,722 to £385,092 in 2015/2016 and £180,630 in 2016/2017. Other cost cutting measures include bin collections becoming fortnightly.

IF her big brown eyes and swirling red curls didn’t steal your heart, then you had no chance of withstanding her infectious smile.

Margot Martini, whose mother Vicki hails from Essington, touched the lives of millions as the princess fighting the odds against leukaemia with the army of Team Margot behind her. But little Margot’s rollercoaster battle with the disease came to an end on Monday at 10.24am.

On the Team Margot website her parents broke the heartbreaking news which followed her relapse in June. More than a thousand people took to the Team Margot Facebook page to pay tribute to the flame-haired tot and express their sadness and support to the Martini family.

“Inspiring”, “little angel” and “brave” were just some of the words to describe Margot.

On Twitter, where the @Swab4Margot campaign had been vocal, hundreds of supporters tweeted #RIP-Margot as it emerged the courageous youngster had lost her battle.

In an effort to continue the campaign they posted links to www.deletebloodcancer.org.uk

The family had posted on Sunday that they were taking things ‘hour by hour’ revealing the two-year-old’s condition had ‘deteriorated significantly’.

It said: “It’s an extremely difficult time for Margot and for all the family.”

“The only thing we can now do is continue to monitor her constantly changing condition and try and keep her comfortable.”

“Margot has been asleep all day and she continues to sleep peacefully. Mercifully, for now at least the drugs appear to be working.”

Her parents also said nothing more could be done to save the toddler and that she was ‘beyond rescue’ earlier this month.

It had so nearly been a story of dreams for Margot who sparked a world-wide campaign to help give her the precious gift of life. She was diagnosed with both acute lymphoblastic leukaemia (ALL) and acute myeloid leukaemia (AML) when she was just 14 months old.

Doctors at Great Ormond Street Hospital have seen just three times cases like it in the past decade but her parents never gave up hope.

Through their despair they appealed for help, for donors to step forward as they showed amazing bravery to go public in an ambitious hunt to find a perfect stem cell match.

An online appeal was started to raise awareness of Margot’s plight. An online video was seen by more than 60,000 people, while Facebook group Team Margot attracted more than 17,000 followers.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

DIP into the chopped walnuts to coat completely then stand on the baking sheet" (From a Sunday Times recipe). I fell off.

A STUDY in China suggests that babies born from frozen embryos are more sociable than those conceived naturally. Is it mere coincidence that Eskimos are famed for their hospitality?

TOLD you so. Five months ago I wrote that the figure of 888,246 ceramic poppies planted at the Tower of London, to be sold for service charities, was too small and that "everyone who wants a ceramic poppy should be able to buy one." The alternative, I suggested was "a limited edition creating an artificial shortage and being sold online for obscene profits." Sure enough, all 888,246 poppies – one for every British warrior killed in the First World War – have now been snapped up. Thousands of folk will be disappointed. Watch out for the profiteering to begin.

SCIENTISTS in San Diego did a sneaky thing. They questioned elderly folk about how much booze they consumed in a week – and then checked the answers against the empty bottles in their bins. You will not be surprised to learn that the number of empties was more than the old 'uns admitted to. It is high time another group of scientists examined the phenomenon noticed by so many of us. If you leave empty bottles in a bin for more than a few days, they start breeding.

RESEARCHERS in the US city of Boston claim a pint of beer a day may improve a man's fertility. But don't overdo it. As Shakespeare warned us, long before Boston was even founded, alcohol "provokes the desire but takes away the performance."

IF you wanted to make a new Dad's Army movie, no-one could hope for a better cast than Tom Courtney, Michael Gambon, Blake Harrison and the others now assembled on the set at Bridlington. The real question is why anyone would want to make a new Dad's Army movie when the original (1971) is perfect.

A REPORT on the BBC website tells us something about the connection between so-called bush meat and the Ebola virus. Experts believe there is a risk of the contagion being passed in the meat of bats, gorillas, chimpanzees and other African delicacies. So how does this affect us? To see the other half of the story, you have to dig out a BBC undercover report from 2012 which found "shocking" quantities of illegal and "potentially unsafe" meat being sold to the public in London. Or you could talk to experts like the wildlife charity Born Free which estimates that 7,500 tons of bush-meat products enters Britain every year, most of it in the suitcases of travellers from Africa. More than half of the illegal meat is distributed through wholesalers or sold at local street markets. So as you are reading this there's a good chance that someone, somewhere in Britain is sitting down to a meal of African ape or fruit bat – containing Doc knows what.

WHAT'S up, Doc? Christmas come early? The plan, announced yesterday, to pay GPs £55 for every case of dementia they diagnose is wide open to abuse. When some senior GPs warn that it may lead to patients being wrongly diagnosed, what they are actually saying is that they don't trust some of their colleagues. So can we at least insist on one tiny check? If some doctors are found to be diagnosing far more dementia than other practices, let's send in HM Revenue & Customs to have a good close look at their financial affairs. We'd be mad not to.

Jail for spurned lover who burgled ex

A MAN who broke into his ex-girlfriend's home three times, assaulting her and leaving graffiti on her bedroom wall, has been jailed for 40 months. Recorder Miss Abigail Nixon described James Humpage as 'a mean and cowardly' man who 'deliberately' terrified his victim.

Humpage, aged 24, of Teddesley Street, Walsall, pleaded guilty to two charges of burglary, one charge of common assault, and a further charge of burglary with intent to cause unlawful damage when he appeared before Wolverhampton Crown Court.

Mr Robert Edwards, prosecuting, said when his victim wanted to end their relationship Humpage seemed unable to accept it. He said in June this year the woman returned to her home in Walsall to find a window had been smashed. Humpage was arrested, and told police he considered himself to still be in a relationship with her, said Mr Edwards.

The court was told that the following month the woman returned home one day to be confronted by Humpage demanding to know who 'Lee' was. "The defendant, in a rage, punched her to the right cheek, leaving her dazed."

Five days later she found her bedding had been slashed and graffiti, accusing her of being in a relationship with another man, and pleading with her to take him back, had been written on her bedroom wall.

Mr Nigel Ford, representing Humpage, said his client had taken the break-up of his relationship badly and was drunk at the time of the offences, but had since detoxed.

Monthly hospital temps bill over £750k

THE cost of agency staff at Walsall Manor Hospital rose to more than £750,000 in just a month, latest figures have revealed.

It is the highest in the financial year so far and comes despite the overall bill for temporary workers, which includes locum and bank staff, falling.

A total of £766,000 was spent on agency workers in September, from a total cost of £1.68m.

Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust has been battling to control the cost of temporary workers. This has seen it start the recruitment for 70 permanent new nurses.

Despite the increase in agency staff, the amount spent on locums reduced from £500,000 in August to £408,000 last month. The level of expenditure on bank workers was cut from £640,000 to £509,000.

Head of finance Ian Baines said in a report to a meeting of the trust board, says: "There was a noticeable drop in locum cover in anaesthetics due to an improvement in sickness levels, however the use of agency staff, particularly in nursing rose sharply."

"Plans have been developed to reduce expenditure and recruit permanently to the nursing establishment."

Demolition of health site

THE demolition of a former mental health base is due to go-ahead next month to pave the way for a multi-million pound road improvement scheme in Walsall.

Beswick House near the Brown Lion junction in Pleck needs to be pulled down for the £26 million revamp of the network heading towards Darlaston.

Darlaston Road and Bescot Road which approach the junction are being widened as part of the overall scheme to improve commuter links and ease congestion in the long-term.

Wot's to eat?

Drink-related issues at lowest for a decade

THE number of underage drinkers admitted to hospital through drink in Walsall has been its lowest in a decade, despite the latest damning figures for the Black Country, health bosses say.

Alcohol-related crime in the borough has also fallen over the last five years, Public Health Walsall has said. Statistics from Alcohol Concern show hundreds of thousands of people across the Black Country and Staffordshire ended up in hospital or needed NHS care.

Figures showed in one year, 399 people died of drink-related causes in Staffordshire, 161 in Sandwell, 142 in Dudley, 119 in Walsall and 115 in Wolverhampton. Walsall has an estimated 34,058 hazardous drinkers and 10,772 who are alcohol dependent.

Councillor Ian Robertson, portfolio holder for health, said: "I'm sure many people would have been shocked by those figures from Alcohol Concern but I think it's important to look at the progress that is being made in our borough too."

"We're all aware that alcohol, when consumed responsibly, can have a positive impact on people in celebratory settings but for a minority of people alcohol misuse can lead to poor health, premature death, homelessness, family breakdown and offending."

"Public Health colleagues advise that alcohol is the biggest lifestyle health risk

by Craig Hughes

after smoking tobacco and alcohol dependency has such an impact on so many other areas of people's lives."

He added this can range from lost productivity, anti-social behaviour, domestic violence, road fatalities and mental health problems for children of dependent drinkers and child safeguarding issues.

As part of the Safer Walsall Partnership the reduction of alcohol-related harm in the borough has been prioritised.

"Its strategy over the last five years has resulted in a year-on-year decrease in alcohol-related recorded crimes in Walsall," Councillor Robertson said. "Alcohol-related crime has been falling in Walsall since 2008/09 falling by 29 per cent against a regional rate of 25 per cent and national fall of 21 per cent."

Traffic speed concerns

CONCERNS have been raised about the speed of traffic in Willenhall

Residents were asked their views on road safety as part of the Liberal Democrats summer survey.

Councillor Ian Shires said many of the responses to the survey made reference to the speed of traffic.

Ward councillors have been working with police and highways officers to assess action which can be taken.

A '20 is plenty' zone for residential roads has been introduced in some areas at the Broadway, Summer Hayes and Lucknow areas.

Kevin's £1,000 charity feet

Kevin Edgington with his medal after completing the Great Birmingham Run

A Walsall runner raised £1,000 in his first half marathon when he took part in the Bupa Great Birmingham Run.

Kevin Edgington finished the run in one hour 54 minutes. The 40-year-old was raising funds for the Winston's Wish charity.

He said it was an epic and emotional day. "It was a brilliant atmosphere," he added. "I felt euphoric with friends and family cheering me on."

"It was especially poignant when a total stranger came up to me to thank me for my raising money for Winston's Wish. His wife died when his daughter was very young and he had telephone support from the charity many times when he and his daughter needed it."

"It made it all seem so real to be supporting such a great cause."

Winston's Wish provides support to bereaved children and families.

Mr Edgington's father Ernest John Fellows committed suicide when he was just a young boy.

Motorist jailed over death of student

A DRIVER who ploughed into a student and left him to die on Birmingham's Broad Street has been jailed for five years.

Joseph O'Reilly, who lived at the Walsall campus of Wolverhampton University, was struck by Fahid Saber's Volkswagen Polo as he tried to hail a taxi after a night out with a friend.

Police launched an appeal after the driver fled the scene in the early hours of December 15 but Saber, aged 22, was traced to an address in the Bordesley area of Birmingham. On Friday he was jailed at Birmingham Crown having pleaded guilty to death by dangerous driving and a charge of dangerous driving.

The court was told how Mr O'Reilly had been on a night out with his friend having visited the German Christmas Market and later the nightclub Gatecrasher.

Miss Samantha Powis, prosecuting, said: "They signalled for a taxi outside of Walkabout bar and as he stepped off the kerb a vehicle driven by the defendant's friend swerved to miss him. However Fahid Saber collided with him."

Saber then drove his damaged vehicle from the scene in an attempt to hide it from his family.

Sikhs mark 1984 killings

SIKHS from the Black Country will be among those gathering to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the 1984 Sikh Massacre.

More than 8,000 Sikhs were slain in Delhi between October 31 and November 3, 1984, in response to the assassination of Indira Gandhi. Across India around 30,000 Sikhs were killed, while 400,000 were displaced from their homes.

On Saturday a candlelight vigil will be held in Birmingham's Victoria Square to remember the victims.

The event takes place from 3pm to 6pm.

Law firm move

A WALSALL solicitors firm has been taken over by a law and accountancy group and is moving out of its town centre base. Clive Shepherd & Co has served the town for 29 years after being set up by the lawyer of the same name. It has been bought out by the HCB Group.

Inventor hopes idea proves a hot investment

Darren Langston with his Oven Spit Guard

AN INVENTOR is hoping to take the world by storm with a simple new way to keep roasting meat moist without getting an oven dirty.

Darren Langford runs a lingerie company but had a flash of inspiration when he came up with the oven tray with a steel lid.

He has made a prototype and put the design on the Kickstarter website, which appeals for funding for new projects.

The 42-year-old, of Walsall Wood, wants to raise £188,000 to produce 5,000 trays, that would sell for up to £40 each.

Though he admits he could struggle to reach that target, he is hoping that offers will start to flood in once the design attracts attention.

He said: "There is nothing out there on the market that is like this. There are sheets you can put on the bottom of the oven but nothing like this."

Fumes

"I spent two hours cleaning my oven one day and I had to suit up in protective clothing, open all doors and windows to allow the toxic fumes from the cleaning chemicals to escape."

"I thought there must be a way around this, and then I came up with this idea," he added.

The funds needed would pay for the equipment needed to make the product and the production process.

The former product engineer and tool maker wants to come up with other designs in the future but says he believes this product could become a top seller.

Other ideas on Kickstarter have generated hundreds of thousands of pounds.

Mr Langford's design is available to view on www.kickstarter.com website.

Bonfires may be axed in plans for £29m cuts

BONFIRES, fun days and Easter egg hunts are the latest events facing the axe at Walsall Council as part of cutback plans.

An 18-strong team which manages nearly 100 parks, play areas and countryside sites would also be cut by more than a quarter, with compulsory redundancies likely. Chiefs plan to slash the authority's budget by more than £29 million next year.

Logging on for lessons at libraries

COMPUTER novices can improve their skills during sessions at libraries in the Black Country.

Advice is being given at libraries in Walsall from how to use the internet, to ebay and sending out emails.

There is also an opportunity to learn how to use Microsoft Word as well as other computer packages and Photoshop.

Helena Denham, taster sessions coordinator at Walsall library, said: "For many of us, we use technology on a day-to-day basis."

"These sessions offer something for everyone, even if you've never used a computer before in your life or simply want more advanced computer skills. I would encourage those who are interested to come along."

Most courses are free but need to be booked in advanced. For more details about the computer email infoexpress@walsall.gov.uk or call the nearest library. It comes as libraries across the borough are poised to close over the next few years under budget cuts.

But claims have been made that it will 'devastate' parks in the borough and attack the most vulnerable in society. Under the plans, jobs that would be cut by April 2015 include a senior countryside ranger post, two park rangers and a strategic development officer. The vacant senior manager position would also be made redundant.

It comes after it emerged £900,000 less will be spent on maintaining parks and green spaces in the borough.

A report on the proposals states: "Other savings include a reduction in community events and activities to achieve a saving of £362,708 in 2015/16."

It adds: "Events such as bonfires, Easter egg hunts, fun days and so on will cease."

The report states the funding cuts could mean parks become less attractive, anti-social behaviour, vandalism and litter could rise and there may be an increase in complaints and claims against the council for slips, trips and falls on green spaces.

It also states that environmental enforcement action could fall and the plans might put the council's prestigious Green Flag awards at risk. Chairman of the Friends of Darlaston South Parks, Councillor Paul Bott said the proposals were 'terrible'.

Digging in to create sensory garden

Dan Higgins, seen right, gets to work on the Darlaston sensory garden with resident Tom Bridges

A STUDENT entrepreneur has helped to create a sensory garden in Darlaston for the benefit of the over 60s.

Former brickwork and built environment student Dan Higgins, aged 24, set up Re Space Landscapes last year after successfully bidding for a slice of funding through Walsall college's Enterprise Hub initiative.

The Enterprise Hub, which launched in November 2013, has been helping students aged 16 to 21 set up their own social enterprise projects in the local community.

Armed with the tools and business tips to make his new company a success, Mr Higgins and 17-year-old Jordan Allen volunteered to create a sensory garden for residents in Darlaston over the summer. Work on the project has just been completed.

It has been specially designed to be dementia friendly and residents are expected to maintain it themselves and will be able to grow fresh produce.

Housing provider Walsall Housing Group funded the scheme and the community space will now be enjoyed by residents at the 17 apartments at Butcroft House.

Jane De Weijer, community development officer at Walsall College, said: "We are really keen to support entrepreneurs through The Enterprise Hub and it is a great achievement to see four of our fledgling businesses now trading as companies in their own right."

Looking back at leather products

TRADE catalogues showcasing leather products made by Walsall companies from the Victorian era to the 1970s have been donated to the town's leather museum by the widow of an Australian saddlery business owner.

Len Hill's family wanted the 50 catalogues to 'come home' from Australia as many of them relate to Walsall companies.

They feature a wide variety of products by Walsall's leather industry. Visitors can see the catalogues in the new exhibition in the Leather which runs until January 10.

Dodgeball club is aiming to expand

M'way delays in bridge alert

THE M6 was closed in both directions when a person was spotted on a bridge over the carriageway.

It was shut between Junction 10 for Walsall and 10a for the M54 at about 3.30pm on Sunday for 10 minutes while officers managed to talk the person down.

Further delays were caused when four cars crashed in the resulted queues that had built up.

Choir set to raise money for church

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

A COUPLE of weeks ago, some of you may remember that I made a prediction regarding the new series of The Apprentice. I ventured that, given that this year's series had a record 20 candidates, and was scheduled to run for just 14 episodes, that we should not be too surprised if the honourable Lord Sugar would lose his paddy from time to time and spontaneously fire contestants on a whim.

By the end of the second week, five candidates have got the bullet, and the ennobled one is firing like Bodie out of the professionals. So just call me Confucius.

And here is another prediction. Sometimes during the series, Lord Sugar will turn up at the crack of dawn in order to treat us to the sight of the dishevelled-looking hopefuls being briefed in their pyjamas and odd socks.

The Apprentice is now in its 10th series, and those taking part are supposed to be some of the sharpest and shrewdest young minds in the country. Has it never crossed any of their minds that it might be a good idea to keep a shirt and trousers by the side of the bed, just in case?

TOM Jones is offering fans the opportunity to buy advanced tickets for concert dates, right up until he reaches the ripe old age of 103.

Some people have suggested this might be a bit presumptuous, and I tend to agree. Selling tickets a year in advance is always a risky business.

GIVEN that we are constantly told we are sitting on an economic timebomb caused by the growing health needs of an ageing population, whoever thought it would be a good idea to offer GPs a double-glazing-style bonus for diagnosing Alzheimer's?

MOTHER-of-three Michelle Hall claims she is allergic to Simon Cowell.

"As soon as he walked on stage wearing those trousers pulled up to his chest, grinning demonically and winking, I felt a sweat coming on."

Indeed, so severe is her condition, that the 43-year-old claims she screams, sweats and vomits every time the X-Factor comes on television.

In the manufacturing heyday about 80 years ago

The old Sunbeam factory along the Penn Road

Clock still on the wall on the factory floor

Breathing new life into Sunbeam

Behind the scenes with ADAM THOMPSON as iconic factory undergoes a £10 million revamp

ABANDONED workshops, light fittings still intact and a clocking-in board gathering dust.

This is behind the scenes of the iconic Sunbeam factory in Wolverhampton which is undergoing a £10 million revamp to turn it into 115 homes.

And bosses have revealed they are aiming to have the first tenants set-up home as early as this Christmas.

The skeletons of 40 of the apartments that will go into the historic former factory have already been erected.

Workers are now putting the roof on to the first phase of the project which began in March with the whole development expected to be completed by summer 2017.

Eyesore

Developer Liam Wordley is overseeing the project. He said: "The building has been disused for so long I think people in Wolverhampton came to get used to it being an eyesore."

"It is on a gateway into the city and we are bringing it back to life. The aim is for the first phase to be finished by Christmas and the first tenants to move in by then."

"I have a passion for attacking problem buildings and this was one of them."

"I think when all the scaffolding comes down from the outside that's when people will see that it is a new building."

"Once we restore the Sunbeam lettering on the outside that will be another big day."

The premises, on the Penn Road Island, has been standing empty since 1999 and is now surrounded by scaffolding.

The site covered in scaffolding and netting as it awaited a buyer

During its lifetime, the Sunbeam factory was used for industrial uses including japanning works and cycling and car manufacturing. Sunbeam was most famous for its motorcycles which were known around the world. The coming-and-goings of lorries and the sounds of the development taking shape have brought back to life a reminder of Wolverhampton's once industrial might.

Inside the structure are dozens of deserted workshops that once produced thousands upon thousands of motorcycles and bicycles.

Wordley, a former rugby player, was also behind the regeneration of the former Territorial Army drill hall in Stafford Street, next door to the Hogshead bar, which is now student accommodation.

But he also had a vision for the 19th century Sunbeam site – formerly known as 'Sunbeamland' – something he purchased from regeneration firm Urban Splash. This includes maintaining most of the factory's history.

He said: "We want to keep as many of the building's original features as possible."

"Some of the homes have the original steel beams and a cast iron pipes in them and they all add to the identity of the place. It's about keeping Sunbeam alive."

In all, the 120,000 sq ft site will be a five-storey development with some of the apartments that are beginning to take shape offering views looking out over the south side of the city centre. Of the 115 apartments 32 will provide learning disability accommodation and a total of 109 parking spaces will also be created.

Positive

MP for Wolverhampton South East Pat McFadden said other sites in the city need to be redeveloped too.

He said: "I think it is positive to see such a significant site in Wolverhampton being fixed-up and it is good for the city to see this happen. What we need are other locations being revamped."

"One of the features of Wolverhampton when you drive around are disused buildings and there is a need to bring them back into use for the community."

"It is not only big sites like Sunbeam but also the small plots."

Councillor for Blakenhall – the ward the factory building sits in – John Rowley said it showed people are willing to invest in Wolverhampton. He said: "In all great industrial town and cities there are a number of buildings that symbolise its image."

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

ED Miliband has made a wise choice bringing Pat McFadden back to his front bench as shadow Europe minister.

The Paisley-born MP for Wolverhampton South East knows only too well about campaigns to keep families of nations together. He went up north to urge his fellow Scots to stay in the UK. And now he's making the hard-headed, patriotic case for the UK to stay in the EU.

While Labour is sticking firmly to holding a referendum only in the event of a transfer of power to Brussels, Lichfield Tory MP Michael Fabricant thinks one is 'inevitable'. The big question is going to be who will lead the various sides.

Even Eurosceptics on the Tory benches won't want to concede the 'out' campaign to Nigel Farage. Nor would UKIP want the Conservatives they've been fighting against to carry the standard on their core policy.

As for the 'in' campaign, should it eventually happen, Mr McFadden is a good choice, if not to lead it, then to be very prominent within it. He's someone who brings with him a wealth of experience and connections with the business world and can talk up the economic impact of an 'out' vote.

This is a Labour MP from the party that wants to hit the bankers hard for their part in the financial crisis, who was also able to get the former RBS boss Stephen Hester to visit Wolverhampton and talk to business people.

Those contacts, incidentally, came in handy when he and fellow Wolverhampton MP Paul Uppal were campaigning separately to get the Barbara Hepworth Rock Form statue put back in the Mander Centre. RBS owns the statue.

It will be up to Pat McFadden to make the most of this new role. The Europe question is a complicated one. In the wrong hands this shadow brief is a poisoned chalice.

The Conservatives are trying to not only hold on to seats they won in 2010 but gain others to give David Cameron the majority that eluded him.

Even so, it is probably beyond ambitious to expect to win in Warley, part of Labour stronghold Sandwell where there is just a single Conservative councillor out of 72.

The Tories quietly merged the former Warley Conservative Association with others to form a Sandwell Federation. Tory high command says it was a democratic decision taken locally to merge the groups.

Some former members are not happy. They want their association back. Ewart Johnson is one of those. He's stood for election 20 times and never won once. Whatever your political stance, that's real dedication to the cause.

Help the victims of disability hate crime

IN Darlaston, hate crime is on the increase. There is discord and hostility on our streets.

Worst of all hostility toward disabled is on the rise. A recent study by Mencap found that police were consistently failing the victims of disability hate crime. Hate crime against disabled people is hard to fathom. In the media many disabled people feel under attack too, described as 'lazy', 'fraudulent' or 'work shy'.

Time limiting ESA, for example, will mean that people must not dare get a long term or chronic illness; if they do, the state will not support them. If the media reported the achievements and successes of sick and disabled people rather than inciting criticism, we would find hate crime starting to fall. It is time we listened to the genuine fears and anxieties of victims of disability hate crime.

What does it say about our town if we fail to look after, protect and respect one another? If you see any incidents of hate crime, say something, do something and report it!

Give us back our money

THE utility companies, those supplying gas and electricity, are still reluctant to return excess cash credits to our accounts, and reduce the monthly direct debit payments.

I had been paying £58 each month, having received a notice to say what my estimated charges over the year would be. A quick use of my calculator tells me that my monthly payments should now be lower than £45 each month.

A phone call to E.ON to find that I am over £250 in credit. After a bit of haggling they are to return over £100 to my account, and reduce my monthly payments to £41 a month.

A bit of nagging to your energy company could help. Despite our politicians still saying our pensions have gone up, they like to forget that the pension credits have been dropped by over 20 per cent, ignoring the decreases, of purchasing value, by inflation.

We should now be fighting these cuts

TO say that it is disappointing that Walsall's new council is planning four more years of cuts in council services would be a huge understatement. What is the point of a change in control if they simply continue where the Tories left off?

In the hard times after the Second World War the government debt was many times larger compared to it is today. Yet the 1945 Labour Government found resources to set up the NHS and other public services.

Today we live in what is still one of the richest countries in the world. However, Cameron and his Government of millionaires are using austerity as an opportunity to destroy huge sections of those services. They are privatising many of those that they don't close down altogether. This is a politically motivated attack destroying services on which we rely, but which they don't use.

Faced with this, Labour should be fighting these cuts, not implementing them. While it is true that it is the Government that is cutting council funding, the General Election is now only months away. With plans for four more years of cuts, the council clearly has little faith in any change at national level. The council should fight the Tory cuts — not implement them.

Choir needs new pianist

WE are a mixed choir of about 40 voices and have been singing and raising funds for local groups and charities for almost 70 years.

Now, we could face closure because we cannot find a pianist. We rehearse on Monday between 7.30 and 9.30pm in Portobello Methodist Church, New Street, Portobello. If you think you may be able to help, please contact Pam Proffitt on 01922 408553 or email willenhallmusicalsociety@virginmedia.co.uk.

It would be such a shame. We have fun together rehearsing also some social occasions and then there is the pleasure of performing and the reward of raising funds and making people happy, so if you think you can help contact us. ## Some are still willing to help

I WAS driving home towards Walsall on the Wolverhampton Road at about 03.45 recently and I pulled over to pick up a dead cat. I was on my own (I'm a female).

I put my hazard lights on, and within a few minutes, a gentleman pulled up and asked if I needed any help. I would like to express my gratitude to this gentleman for taking the time to stop. It just goes to show there are people out there who are still willing to help others.

Street art with a heart – prints donated

Huge coup – artist Jamie Paul Scanlon has donated rare signed prints of his street art to help fund an arts festival in Walsall

THIS rare signed print of a Banksy-style piece of street art has been donated by the man who created it to help a community arts festival.

Graffiti artist Jamie Paul Scanlon's work has been snapped up by collectors around the world and appears alongside such names as Damien Hirst, Banksy, Andy Warhol and Tracey Emin.

Now the artist, known as JPS, has gifted five autographed prints to be auctioned on ebay to help fund Walsall's arts festival.

It is a huge coup for the town as JPS continues to gain international recognition with street art that takes digs at everyone, from Charlie Sheen to Spider-Man. Only five years ago he was a self-confessed 'homeless junkie' but he has used the experience to turn his life around.

Festival organiser Carolyn Bayliss has been a fan of his work since watching his paintings, including this clown piece, unfold on his Facebook page.

She said: "It is not just what he does, it is his placement that is so good. We became friends in 2012 and I've exhibited at one of his shows and he sent some of his works over for last year's Walsall Arts Fest. I can't thank him enough."

"He has been part of this from the beginning."

The 50-year-old, who lives in Walsall town centre, said: "The festival is bigger this year and has attracted some amazing sponsors." The five pieces – including two of the clown image – are being auctioned along with a Launer London handbag, worth £1,000, which has been given a reserve price of £600.

The three-day contemporary art event called Three Days In November will be held at The Wheatsheaf pub on the Birmingham Road on November 6 to 8, between midday and 6pm each day.

Other exhibitors will include Dale Grimshaw, who will be creating a mural on a wall at the back of the pub over the three days.

Inside the pub a 'wake' for England, centred on a coffin artwork created by Carolyn Bayliss, will be held.

Apartments plan at site rejected for eighth time

Sign of success for Redbox

Ian Cooke of Redbox Signmakers with Councillor Mohammad Nazir from Walsall Council, one of the business grant backers

A HIGH-END Walsall sign-maker is targeting further expansion after securing specialist funding to support its growing work across the UK.

Redbox Signmakers has invested in a state-of-the-art large format printer thanks partly to a £5,000 Black Country GOLD grant, backed by the European Regional Development Fund and Walsall, Dudley, Wolverhampton and Sandwell councils.

The 10-strong company, founded in 2002, is already a favoured supplier for brands including TM Lewin, Levi's and Christian Louboutin. Based in Upper Short Street, Redbox also works with Midlands venues and businesses on indoor and outdoor signs.

Redbox design, manufacture, install and maintain signs and interior displays as well as vehicle and window graphics. Other products include tailored point of sale joinery and acrylic fabrication.

The new technology has enabled Redbox to strengthen its short term signage portfolio, with recent jobs for full-colour hoardings at beauty retailer Molton Brown in Guildford and several pitch-side signs at Wolverhampton's Castlecroft stadium.

It has gone before planners eight times but residents in Walsall are celebrating after seeing off the latest bid to build new homes in the town.

Developers have been trying to secure permission to build 14 apartments in Woodside Close, Park Hall.

Six previous planning applications to build three blocks of apartments and an electricity substation on the site have been thrown out by Walsall Council while the seventh attempt in January was not considered because councillors deemed it had not dealt with the previous issues.

Now an eighth application has been turned down by the local authority.

Councillors were concerned that there was not enough parking allocated on the site, access to the power station wasn't good enough and there were worries about the overall density of the development.

Almost 300 residents against the plans signed a petition to show their opposition. A total of 41 letters of objection were lodged with the local authority and more than 30 householders attended the council meeting where the plans were thrown out — despite having been recommended for approval.

Councillor Rose Martin said: "Residents are concerned about the fundamental issues. Some 285 signatures show the continuing opposition to the proposals. This is not a sustainable location. The roads are too narrow, there is not enough parking."

"This is a known problem area already for parking."

Councillor Paul Bott said: "I have never seen anything so ridiculous in my life. I will be voting against this."

Bosses behind the development said the latest application was a 'genuine attempt to redesign the substation'.

The site previously housed six one-bedroom flats and a two storey house.

Householder Jenny Roden added: "We will fight this again if we have too."

Band reuniting at Robin no worries

Mothers Worry reunite. Front, with axe, Ron Howell, with noose, Ken Walker and in the coffin is Darren Winwood

THEY thrilled fans up and down the country throughout a colourful 18 year career.

Now almost three decades later the cult Black Country band, Mothers Worry, are returning to the stage promising to be bigger and better than before.

Devoted followers have already snapped more than 500 tickets for the comeback show at the Robin 2, Bilston on November 1. Truck driver Dave Hodgkisson, now 64, from Brooklands, Walsall is lead vocalist and the only survivor from the original line up of the group whose trademark is a horror show bookended by two music sets featuring hits from the 1970 and 80s.

Mr Hodgkisson said: "We split up 28 years ago but it was as if we had never been apart when we started playing together again."

They launched in 1968 as a three piece but soon increased to a five-strong lineup from 1968 to 1986. There were frequent changes to the personnel of both the band and back-room staff but luckily Dave kept a near 100-strong list of all those involved over the years.

This was used to track down as many as possible after Shaun Burton and Darren Winwood - base and drum player - suggested reforming.

He contacted Darren and Dave. Darren, a 52-year-old lorry driver from Cecil Drive, Tividale said: "We used social media to contact former members."

Gritting crews getting to grips with winter

STOCKPILES of grit are accumulating in Brownhills as the borough's fleet of gritting vehicles get ready for the start of another winter.

The Apex Road depot has been stocked with around 3,000 tons of salt which is ready to be spread when the mercury drops below zero on around 218 miles of designated roads.

Gritting crews have been put on standby, with the official winter service to start on Saturday, which will be November 1.

A trial run has already taken place to ensure that driving routes are clear for when the snow and ice begin to fall.

Operation Snowfall saw six routes checked and timed.

In recent weeks, crews have been busy replenishing the 200 grit bins around the borough to ensure enough salt is available for residents to apply.

Council chiefs are also reminding residents to make sure they and their families are ready for the cold snap, including getting tyres checked and having de-icer and scraper at hand for when the winter season kicks in.

Walsall Councillor Lee Jeavons with the pile of grit ready for winter

Change

Walsall Council's transport chief, Councillor Lee Jeavons said: "We're well prepared for winter and any sudden change in temperature.

"At the moment it's a typically wet October, but knowing our weather things can change rather briskly. Our salt stocks are at a maximum. And we're ready to go."

Walsall is divided up into six key routes across 218 miles of road which can be covered in four hours.

Highways chiefs are also seeking volunteers from the community to act as snow champions to help clear up in their area during inclement weather.

Those interested should contact Paul Leighton by email at LeightonP@walsall.gov.uk

Blaze-hit site plan for shops

DISCUSSIONS are taking place between Walsall Council, landowners and a housing group which is interested in transforming the town centre site of a Victorian mill that was destroyed in a blaze seven years ago.

Shannons Mill, in George Street, was destroyed by a fire which tore through the building in 2007, causing part of it to collapse.

Walsall's regeneration boss, Councillor Mohammad Nazir, said the Accord Group has now shown an interest in transforming the site with several shops and living accommodation on the first floor. He said: "It is at the very first stages but I would welcome it." Spokeswoman for the Accord Group, Stella Pitt said: "We can confirm that we are in discussions with landowners and the council in relation to a potential mixed use development on the site. There are no further details at this time."

Planning permission would need to be granted before any regeneration of the site could begin. The mill was flattened following the fire and the £2.7 million Goldmine centre has since been built near to the site.

The blaze was described as the borough's biggest fire in 25 years.

Factory Roll of Honour recalls fallen colleagues

AN elaborate oil painting commissioned by a patriotic factory boss is going on display in Stafford.

The artwork was commissioned by Walter Haddon, chairman of W.H. Dorman & Co Ltd in Stafford, to highlight the sacrifices faced by 300 of his workers during the Great War.

It features the name of every man who fought picked out in gold lettering against a background of heavenly gates, cherubs and the figure of Christ.

The unusual 6ft high tribute once adorned the walls of the company's Foregate Street site, but has been in storage for decades.

It has been cleaned up and renovated for the centenary of the 1914-18 conflict and will be on display at the Shire Hall Gallery until November 2.

Philip Jones, of Pennfields, Wolverhampton, is a member of the Dorman Association for former employees. He first came across the painting covered in dust stacked against a wall in a storeroom many years ago when he worked as a wages clerk at the firm's Tixall Road site. He was impressed by grandeur of the artwork but mainly the sheer number of names listed.

Of those 300 employees who went off to war, 24 never returned and are given a special listing on the painting.

MEMORY LANE

By Marion Brennan

Dorman's also brought out a memorial booklet containing the photographs and a brief biography of those that died or were reported missing. This was given to their next of kin and a copy can be seen at The William Salt Library in Stafford.

Among those featured were chief wages clerk Harry Cull, of Victoria Terrace, Stafford, aged 23, who had played football for Aston Villa and Cannock FC and was the first secretary of Dorman's own football club before volunteering to serve with the Coldstream Guards.

He was wounded at the Battle of Loos and died nine months later in hospital in June 1916. Signaller Harry Millward, of Brook Street, Stafford, worked in the fitting department and was aged 21 when killed at Ypres in 1916 serving with the 6th Staffordshires Battery of the Royal Field Artillery. His fellow shopmate at Dorman's, Bombardier A. Hawkins, carried him three miles to safety only to find he had died on the way. He was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal.

Private A.J. Haywood, aged 26, of Jessamine Cottage, Huntington, was employed as a capstan hand at Dorman's. He was killed at Passchendaele on November 10, the day before the Armistice was signed.

Thirteen Dorman's employees were decorated, awarded either the Military Medal or Distinguished Conduct Medal. One - Herbert John Mountford, of Brocton - received the French military decoration, the Croix de Guerre.

Among the names of the survivors are the chairman's nephews, Norman Haddon and his cousin William Haddon, who were apprentices at the firm.

Certificate

Dorman's made its own huge contribution to the war effort, making the engines for the trench railways that took food and weapons to the front and which carried back injured soldiers to field hospitals. The company won the certificate to make prototypes in 1913 from the War Office.

The Foregate Street site was wound down in the 1930s but the facade is still there, today housing a number of small businesses as part of the Paul Reynolds Centre.

The Tixall Road factory was bought by Perkins, the biggest diesel engine manufacturers in the country, and is now owned by Caterpillar, although it retains the Perkins name.

Teenage apprentice receives accolade

Teenager Chelsee Shin, of Tipton, receives her apprenticeship award, run by Kier Partnership Homes

A YOUNG apprentice from Tipton, has been commended for her work in a national awards evening. Chelsee Shin, aged 17, has been named apprentice of the year, south at the Kier Partnership Homes Apprentice of the Year Awards 2014, beating off competition from 70 other apprentices.

The young painting and decorating apprentice has gone from strength to strength since joining Kier Partnerships earlier in the year and now hopes to continue her family trade with a full-time position. Chelsee was nominated for Apprentice of the Year by her peers, and also narrowly missed out on the Most Improved Apprentice Award on the evening. She walked away with a trophy and a voucher.

Chelsee joined Kier following a council campaign which called for apprentices to work on the Sandwell Housing Partnership Framework. She later went to work on the Greets Green Site in West Bromwich.

Chelsee said: "When I was younger I thought I wanted to go into sport, and I even chose a sports diploma at first. After an injury my mum and dad, who are decorators, encouraged me to help them out." Gregg Hill, Kier Partnerships site manager added: "She's a true professional and a true role model for any apprentice to follow."

Fuel stop is back in business for town

A SERVICE station in Walsall has reopened 15 months after it sold its last litre of petrol – bucking the national trend which has seen 900 fuel stops close in the past five years.

Ablewell Service Station has been taken over by a family-run business which has successfully turned around four others, two in the Midlands. Owner Vealautham Sarveswaran said: "It is good for Walsall to see a business reopen."

"If you walk through the streets of the town centre, you can see numerous shops that have been shut down, it's very sad. Opening the service station again has brought new life back to this part of town, and it's always lit, which makes people feel safer. We've had a lot of local support, people are glad to see us."

The 52-year-old is a former civil engineer who worked on the M5 and M6 motorways. Despite a PhD in civil engineering, he gave up the business in order to run petrol stations.

The Walsall site is his fifth, after establishing fuel stops in Swindon, Wiltshire and Boston, Lincolnshire, as well as Redditch and the Maypole in Birmingham.

by Marion Brennan

He said it was important to get the location and pricing right. The Ablewell site is currently selling unleaded petrol at 125.7p a litre and diesel at 128.7p a litre. He said: "We don't want to be greedy. We try and keep our prices in line with supermarkets."

Mr Sarveswaran, who runs the firm with his wife Ananthi, said: "This is a family business which also helps to keep down the costs." The couple have one son who is presently studying for his A-levels. Nationally since 2008 there has been a 10 per cent decline in service stations which has cost almost 6,000 jobs.

Backing for cause as it racks up 10th

Chelsie Doughty and her daughter Emma, marking the charity's 10th anniversary

A COURAGEOUS girl from Darlaston is calling on people to clear out their cupboards to help save lives like hers.

Chelsie Doughty, aged nine, who has been treated successfully for leukaemia, is drumming up support for the Give Up Clothes for Good campaign run by Cancer Research UK.

Chelsie and her mother, Emma, are celebrating the 10th anniversary of the campaign and the progress that has been made in children's cancer research during her lifetime.

Now Chelsie is asking people to help save more lives by digging through their drawers, whittling down their wardrobes and donating anything they no longer need to their nearest TK Maxx store. Chelsie was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia in June 2010 at the age of five.

She had been taken to the doctor repeatedly with unexplained pains in her legs, but it was only when she came out in severe bruising after playing in her favourite pair of sparkly shoes that her mum rushed her to A&E.

After blood tests and investigations Emma, who was five months pregnant with her second baby, and her partner Simon Pratt, were told that Chelsie had leukaemia. Chelsie was treated with intensive chemotherapy for two years, and had to endure repeated blood tests, lumbar punctures and bone marrow tests. She has now been in remission for two years.

"It was very hard on us as a family," said Emma. "Simon kept working throughout but I more or less lived at the hospital and was even there on the date I was due to give birth. Chelsie never lost her spirit though. Thanks to research into children's cancers, Chelsie is here today and is now living a full and happy life like any child. We would urge people across the West Midlands to support Give Up Clothes for Good."

Pupils in the swim with Joanne's visit

Joanne Jackson, who won a bronze at the Beijing Olympics, appearing at a Walsall school next week

AN Olympic medallist will put school pupils through their paces when she takes time out to inspire the next generation of athletes next Friday.

Swimmer Joanne Jackson, who won bronze at the 2008 Beijing Games, will visit Hydesville Tower School in Walsall, where pupils at the independent school will be sponsored to complete a fitness circuit comprising four activities with the 28-year-old sportswoman who became Britain's most successful female swimmer.

Joanne, who has won a medal at every major international competition, will coach and encourage the children throughout the circuit. The exercises involved will represent the type of training elite athletes do to keep fit.

She will then deliver an assembly designed to motivate the children to participate more regularly in sport and will finish with a question and answer session.

The visit is part of the Sports for Schools programme which runs athlete-led events to encourage children to be more active and raise money for school PE equipment.

Paul March, director of sport at Hydesville, said: "It's a privilege for us to welcome Joanne to school. I've no doubt the pupils will be inspired by her achievements."

Mineshafts probe plan puts back rail project

WORK on a rail bridge to allow the multi-million pound electrification of the Chase Line has been suspended for more mineshaft investigations.

The bridge at Central Drive, Bloxwich, needs to be rebuilt and raised higher to enable cable installation as part of the £30 million scheme between Walsall and Rugeley. Work was due to be carried out by Network Rail.

By Craig Hughes

It was scheduled to run up until February, but bosses have revealed that it has been postponed.

This is to allow investigations into former mines in the area and it has not been confirmed when work on the scheme will resume. A road closure which was put in place recently has now been removed.

Bloxwich councillor Fred Westley said he believed it could take until January before work could restart. "There is nothing you can do and all the safety checks need to be done," he said. "We will have to wait and see what happens next."

A statement from Network Rail said: "Safety is paramount and we will inform how the bridge replacement proceeds as we work to overcome these challenges."

It is one of the bridges which needs to be rebuilt as part of the electrification of the line to enable overhead power cables to be installed.

This has already been carried out in Broad Lane, Bloxwich, and a similar scheme is also being undertaken in North Street, Walsall, near to the Wisemore College campus.

It is a main route in and out of the town and diversions are in place. It also recently emerged that some of the track will have to be lowered, causing disruption for train commuters.

Shopaholic's delight with trip to centre

Pelsall Townswomen's Guild members Beryl Thornley, Glenys Marsden and Val Chalker at Walsall Arboretum

THE trip to Cheshire Oaks on October 13 was a shopaholic's delight. Everyone found something to buy or just admire, or strongly resist in some cases. The weather was overcast and dull but at least the Midlands rain was left behind.

On the return journey Gill of Norton Coaches announced that she and Martin would be retiring in the New Year. Thanks and best wishes were given to Gill and Martin as they have been popular escorts on many of the club's trips over the past few years.

The Federation Art & Craft Day is at Aldridge Community Centre on Saturday, November 15, and the Christmas Dinner is on Thursday, December 4 at the County Hotel, Birmingham Road, Walsall.

Speaker for the evening was Ian Bott who took the group on a Magical Mystery Tour by way of his extensive collection of old photographs. The competition for a small floral arrangement was won by Pat Heeley. Sandra Pagett was the raffle winner.

Next month's meeting will be held on November 20 at Pelsall Community Centre, when the Speaker will be Doris Halifax demonstrating flower arranging.

TV Anne is a real gem to share memories

Shreshill WI

FIFTY members celebrated the WI's diamond anniversary with a three-course dinner at Shugborough Hall. Catering staff were thanked for the wonderful meal.

President Margaret Beppard then welcomed members, especially youngest member Kim and oldest member Dulcie who will be 90 years old in December.

Before the festivities began the president told members that the Shreshill Craft Group together with Shreshill Church hosted a Macmillan Coffee event which raised £405.20.

At the November 22 meeting, Kerri from Essington Craft Centre will demonstrate how to make a wreath from scraps of fabric. The darts team are on a winning streak and have won their last three matches.

Eleven members had a lovely day at the Autumn Council Meeting when the speaker was Police Commissioner Matthew Ellis. After lunch Anne Diamond entertained with tales of her life as a journalist and television presenter.

Chairman Denise Moreton thanked the WI for the beautiful flower arrangements provided by Carol Hood and then announced she was standing down after 10 years in office. She was given a standing ovation.

The beautiful celebration cake was provided by long-serving member of 58 years Margaret Matthews who was unable to attend as she was in hospital recovering from a fall.

Hanging baskets advice

THE October meeting was opened as usual with Jerusalem and president Julie welcomed members and visitors.

After correspondence and information on the Christmas dinner at Essington Fruit Farm, Julie introduced the speaker, Darren Rudge whose talk and demonstration was on winter hanging baskets. He has been in the gardening profession for more than 20 years.

He demonstrated how to make a winter hanging

Speaker at the November 17 meeting will be Kasie Woods son 'Boots No.7'.

Dinner conversation uncovers a deadly conspiracy in thriller

Fans can rely on Paloma

PALOMA Faith brings her glamorous take on R&B to the West Midlands next month and has already planned a return in spring.

The Hackney songstress got 2014 off to a flying start with third album A Perfect Contradiction and her Pharrell Williams' produced hit Can't Rely On You. She had a star turn at the Proms, appeared at summer festivals and featured in the BBC's star-studded God Only Knows song and video.

Paloma has repackaged her album as The Outsiders Edition with extra tracks including new single Ready For The Good Life, plus a recording of her concert at the Royal Albert Hall.

The Only Love Can Hurt Like This singer has sold out Symphony Hall, Birmingham, on November 11 and plays Wolverhampton Civic Hall on November 22. She's back to play the NIA (Barclaycard Arena, as it will be then) on March 19.

Paloma Faith, with canine companion, has three concerts coming up in the West Midlands

A CHANCE remark at a dinner party exposes a conspiracy in JB Priestley's play Dangerous Corner, staged at Birmingham Rep from Monday to Saturday.

Directed by Michael Attenborough, this new production will feature Michael Praed, who is still fondly remembered as TV's Robin of Sherwood, and Colin Buchanan, who was DI Pascoe in TV series Dalziel and Pascoe.

From the writer of the classic An Inspector Calls, Dangerous Corner is a mystery that sees dinner guests take a fresh look at the events surrounding a recent death.

The strong ensemble cast also includes Kim Thomson, who was Faye Lamb in Emmerdale, Downton Abbey footman Matt Milne, Lauren Drummond from Waterloo Road and Finty Williams, the Gosford Park actress and daughter of Dame Judi Dench.

The war poets of the First World War are portrayed on stage in Regeneration at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday.

Olivier Award winning playwright Nicholas Wright has adapted Pat Barker's Booker nominated novel for the stage, a war story in which the battles rage in the minds of men devastated by their experience of the horrors.

Birmingham Rep's acclaimed production of John Steinbeck's Of Mice And Men continues at the Centenary Square theatre until Saturday in the main house, whilst Dame Janet Suzman plays opposite young Khayalethu Anthony in Lara Foot's Solomon And Marion at The Studio at The Rep.

Praed and Buchanan in Dangerous Corner

Actor Edward Petherbridge suffered a stroke whilst preparing for the role of King Lear in 2007 yet, remarkably, he could remember every line.

Petherbridge features with Paul Hunter in My Perfect Mind, a poignant and comic exploration of human resilience at The Door at The Rep from Tuesday to Saturday.

Russians bringing Ring Cycle to city

BIRMINGHAM Hippodrome undertake a massive opera event with the staging of Wagner's epic Ring Cycle in its entirety next week.

The four operas based on Norse sagas, including the story of the hero Siegfried and his Valkyrie lover Brunnhilde, will be conducted by Valery Gergiev with his world-famous Mariinsky Opera. It will bring more than 250 artists from St Petersburg to Birmingham with ten trucks of scenery.

There will be four performances over five nights on November 5, 6, 8 and 9 — plus a host of associated events under the umbrella title Ringside, see www.birminghamhippodrome.com website. The cast will include Sir Willard White.

Merry and Kerry in comedy plays

COMEDY rules at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre where Su Pollard and Cannon & Ball feature in Ha Ha Hood tonight (Thursday). Then the Hollywood view of Ireland clashes with reality in Kerry comedy Stones In His Pockets on Monday.

The comedy veterans team up with Ben Langley as Robin Hood, Prince of Leaves, in a mix of panto and sketch show.

Stones In His Pockets blends comedy and tragedy when a movie crew's arrival in a small Irish community has unforeseen results. Two actors play dozens of roles in the play, which was a hit on Broadway.

Celebs aim not to fright on a spooky dance night

We've been treated to some extraordinary sights so far this series – from EastEnder Jake Wood salsa-ing up a storm to Judy Murray literally flinging herself into Anton du Beke's arms during a surprisingly forceful tango.

And that's without even mentioning Movie Week when Mark Wright got be Superman, Scott Mills was transformed into a crab, and Claudia Winkleman threw popcorn into Tess Daly's cleavage.

But it seems that was just a warm-up for tonight's Halloween extravaganza, the show when the make-up and costume departments can really let their imaginations run riot.

Of course, for many of the celebs, every Saturday night so far has been fright night as they try to conquer their nerves and perform in front of millions people. Even the stars you might expect to be used to shaking their stuff in public – like pop star Pixie Lott – admit that Strictly is a whole new experience.

She says: "[The judges] make me nervous! I think they're all great in their own way. My favourite is Darcy Bussell. She's the only ballerina I'd heard of as a young girl. Ballet's such a discipline – she got to the top of her game, which is amazing."

Wood, better known to soap fans as Max Branning, may seem surprisingly at home on the dancefloor, whether he's doing a moody waltz or channelling Elvis in a jive, but he says it's all new to him as well. "I tend not to even dance at a party but I do sometimes dance at home when I'm mucking about with the kids."

Luckily, that hasn't stopped him enjoying the experience. "It's something that's completely out of my comfort zone and I like a challenge. It's such a great Saturday night show and my family always sits down and watches it together so I'm really happy to be involved and I think my kids will really enjoy watching me take part."

It seems likely the 11 remaining stars will be taken even further out of their comfort zones this week, as the professional dancers wrack their brains for more supernatural-themed songs. (In previous years, we've been treated to a Ghostbusters cha cha from Sid Owen, Russell Grant doing the samba to Better the Devil You Know, and Mark Benton performing possibly the world's first intergalactic disco paso doble to I Lost My Heart to a Starship Trooper.)

And they'll still face the terrifying prospect of being judged by Len Goodman, Bruno Tonioli, Craig Revel Horwood and Bussell, although as TOWIE star Wright could tell you, even getting decent scores and encouraging comments can't always save you from that dreaded dance-off.

We'll have to wait for Sunday night to find out who's going home this week, and as an added incentive, the results show will also feature a performance by Annie Lennox. And if anyone's still searching for a Halloween tune, she did once have a hit with Love Song for a Vampire...

Strictly Come Dancing, Saturday, BBC1, 6.30pm

BEST OF THE REST

The Passing Bells BBC1, 7pm
New series. Five-part drama being shown over five nights, in which the First World War unfolds through the eyes of two ordinary young men. Upon the outbreak of hostilities, farmer's son Michael and delivery boy Thomas both defy their parents and slip out to the recruitment office, alongside thousands of other men. After donning their uniforms – one British, one German – each set of parents struggles to cope with their sons' deceptions, before the new recruits set off for training, and while shy Tommy struggles to find his feet, Michael immediately begins to miss girlfriend Katie. Patrick Gibson and Jack Lowden star. Continues tomorrow.

TUESDAY
Live UEFA Champions League ITV, 7.30pm
Real Madrid welcome Liverpool to the Bernabeu for this matchday four Group B fixture. This is the second meeting between the clubs in the space of a fortnight, and the odds are stacked against the Reds here given they suffered a 3-0 defeat at Anfield. Cristiano Ronaldo opened the scoring in typically brilliant fashion and Karim Benzema added two more in the opening 45 minutes. Much was made of Mario Balotelli's subdued performance that saw Brendan Rodgers substitute the striker at half time, but improvements are also needed in defence if the Merseysiders are to have a dramatic reversal in fortunes this evening against the classy defending champions. However, Liverpool did defeat Real 1-0 on their only previous visit to this ground in 2009, but Steven Gerrard and Martin Skrtel are the only survivors from that team, while Iker Casillas, Pepe and Sergio Ramos are the three remaining Madrid players.

WEDNESDAY
Great Continental Railway Journeys BBC2, 9pm
Some celebrities' lives can be re-invented thanks to being in the right place at the right time. Michael Palin for example was considered an unlikely successor to Alan Whicker in the late Eighties when he went Around the World in 80 Days, and in recent years Michael Portillo's railway travels have made for compelling viewing also. Now, armed with his trusty Bradshaw's guide, he's off on the Eurostar to travel overseas and into the past. There he examines how life in Europe 100 years ago was changed forever by the advent of war. His first journey takes in Russia, a country which in 1913 was something of an enigma "poised between reform and revolution," explains Michael. His epic journey takes in Tula, Saint Petersburg and Moscow, among other places, and along the way he is taught how to wash.

THURSDAY
Peaky Blinders BBC2, 9pm
There may be the obvious comparisons with Boardwalk Empire, and Cillian Murphy's Birmingham accent may take a little getting used to, but those niggles are tiny when you consider the stylish brilliance of Steven Knight's epic crime drama. With a top-drawer cast including Helen McCrory and Tom Hardy, series two has made for compelling viewing in recent weeks, and the latest episode is no exception. It's Derby Day at Epsom, and under orders from Major Campbell, Tommy is there to assassinate a high-ranking member of the military establishment. He plans turn the situation to his advantage by bringing his gang to the racecourse and striking a blow at gang boss Sabini – a scheme that could take his organisation to another level.

FRIDAY
Marvel's Agents of SHIELD Channel 4, 8pm
Given the fact Marvel are now one of the most powerful entertainment companies on Earth, with TV shows such as this and pending small screen sagas Daredevil and Agent Carter, there's little wonder DC are fighting back with more helpings of Arrow, Gotham and The Flash. Can Agent Coulson and company win the lion's share of ratings? Well they're certainly going to have a good go with this latest run being the perfect teaser for next spring's blockbuster Avengers: Age of Ultron. This week Phil and the team attempt to utilise the freezing power of Donnie Gill, a lethal Moroccan-based individual fans may remember from series one episode, Seeds. The problem is, Simmons is caught in the crossfire.

Infiniti's charge on market

By Graham Breeze

Infiniti sold very few cars in the UK last year but you can expect to see a lot more on our roads with the arrival of a turbocharged petrol version of the Q50 premium sports saloon.

For the confused readers Infiniti is Nissan's up-market offering – the same relationship as Lexus has to Toyota.

And if you haven't seen one on the road you will have seen the name splashed across the side of the Red Bull F1 team – which means the company is serious about exposure.

The Q50 is a mid-size, rear-drive saloon launched to take the opposition head-on at BMW, Audi and Mercedes. And that's going to be no easy task.

The Japanese luxury car producer is determined to increase market share in the next year and the Q50 is set to become their best seller.

It is already available with a 2.2-litre diesel engine or a direct response 3.5-litre petrol/electric hybrid drivetrain.

And there are three trim levels for the diesel models – SE, Premium and Sport, with the Hybrid available in one, fully equipped form only.

The Infiniti may be a rare sight on our roads at the moment but the new petrol option will appeal to a new customer base.

It oozes style and a new lightweight 4-cylinder turbocharged petrol engine now gives performance to match, thanks to 208hp and 258lb/ft (350Nm) of torque via a 7-speed automatic transmission.

'This model handles like a dream on motorways or on country roads, roars when you want it to and is agile enough.'

It gets Euro 5 certified technology and an impressive throttle response that gives an astonishing top speed of 152mph and 0-62mph in 7.5seconds.

You can expect to get over 40mpg on the combined cycle and the car emits 151g/km of CO2 in sport form.

This model handles like a dream on motorways or on country roads, roars when you want it to and is agile enough to be competitive in the sector.

Wood and leather have been used extensively inside to provide a superb cabin area which is dominated by two big colour centre screens – one containing the Sat-Nav system, the other an iPad based system which controls just about everything you can think of.

The Infiniti Q50 takes the idea of a car with a memory to a whole new level. Thanks to 96 selectable settings across 10 functions, possible permutations for personalisation run into the millions.

The system will remember the personal settings for up to four people – three registered users and one guest – covering the areas of life on board, dynamic performance and safety technology.

New style details and equipment for Prius+

By Matt Joy

Prius+, Europe's market-leading seven-seat hybrid MPV, is being re-groomed for 2015 with new styling details, equipment features and colour choices. The first major changes for Prius+ since launch in 2012 give the car a stronger look that takes up Toyota's latest design cues.

The revised front-end features a new upper grille and a more prominent Toyota badge that extends the forward line of the bonnet. There are new LED headlights, too, which use a cylindrical projector for both high and low beam. Their slim profile and contrasting black and chrome plating give Prius+ a distinctive sharp-eyed appearance.

The lower grille adopts the trapezoid shape that's a common feature of the latest Toyota models. With a gloss black metallic finish, it adds emphasis to the car's broad stance. The impression of width is reinforced by a re-working of the bumper corners, given extra emphasis in a flowing form that extends from the headlights to the new air intakes and LED daytime running lights.

At the rear there's a new combination lamp design with "light guide" treatment and red inner lenses that give the car an individual lighting signature. Following the styling themes adopted at the front, there is a new licence plate trim and bumper with an integrated diffuser.

In Europe, two new body colours will be available: Dark Sherry metallic and Attitude Black mica (details of UK colours will be announced later).

Changes in the cabin include a dark silver metallic finish for the driver's switchgear and the air conditioning dial control and a chrome finish for the door handles.

There are two new chrome-trimmed, slim-line air vents in the centre console and a new 4.2-inch colour TFT information screen, controlled using switchgear on the steering wheel.

Maximise

As well as basic information such as clock, trip indicator, cruising range fuel consumption, the screen also displays the Hybrid System Indicator and Energy monitor – features common to all Toyota hybrids. It also provides a new "Eco Judge" function, designed to help the driver maximise the powertrain's efficiency, giving a points score for their eco-driving style.

The screen will also mirror the settings for the air conditioning and audio settings, keeping them in the driver's line of sight when on the move.

The 2015 Prius+ is fitted as standard with the Toyota Touch 2 multimedia system, including touchscreen control, Bluetooth and reversing camera. This can be upgraded – Toyota Touch 2 with Go – to provide additional satellite navigation, live traffic information and, via Toyota's online portal, an expanded range of connected services, text-to-speech function and 3D city modelling with landmark graphics.

The equipment upgrade extends to the availability of electric seat adjustment, a front centre armrest and Intelligent Park Assist.

Safety features have also been improved with the introduction of an emergency brake signal, which triggers all side indicators in the event of sudden braking. Hill-start Assist Control is automatically activated when the car detects an uphill gradient.

Toyota has also improved Prius+ ride and handling, making adjustments to the suspension damping force. New sound absorption material has been introduced in the side of the rear compartment to reduce noise intrusion in the cabin.

The hybrid powertrain has been upgraded to comply with Euro6 emissions standards.

Full details of the UK model range, specifications and prices will be announced nearer the on sale date.

Flanagan double enough for victory

Port Vale Res 0 Walsall Res 2
REECE FLANAGAN scored both goals and Sam Manton played for an hour as Walsall reserves claimed victory at Port Vale.

Midfielder Flanagan scored in the 32nd minute to put a strong Saddlers line-up ahead in Burslem and then sealed victory in the Final Development League Cup game with another 18 minutes from time.

Aside from the win, manager Dean Smith will be most pleased by Manton coming through his first serious action of the season unscathed.

The 22-year-old was a stoppage-time substitute in Tuesday night's 1-0 defeat at Crawley in his first appearance since suffering a knee injury in the summer.

Walsall's reserve line-up also included Liam Kinsella, Dean Holden and Billy Clifford along with trialist Craig Fagan.

"Our application and attitude was first-class," said second-string boss, Richard O'Kelly.

"Port Vale fielded a young side but they were very competitive and made us work hard. We had the majority of possession and chances and were deserved winners in the end.

Tolley bad luck for Olympic

FC Man Utd 1 Rushall Olympic 0
RUSHALL Olympic suffered a third successive defeat within a week.

An unfortunate Mitchell Tolley own goal after 69 minutes was enough to separate the two sides and give the hosts three points in the Evo-Stik Premier clash.

Luke Barlone had the first shot of the game after two minutes but was well off target.

The Pics striker then almost fortuitously put his team in front after he blocked Chris Lynch's clearance but the ball dropped just wide of goal.

FC United went ahead after Craig Lindfield's free-kick was inadvertently turned into his own net by the luckless Tolley.

Scott Cheetham received a caution either side of the goal, first for grappling with Lee Hildreth and then for not retreating for a free-kick to see Rushall play the last 15 minutes against 10 men.

Wellington boot Lockmen

Wellington Amateurs 2 Willenhall 0
WILLENHALL dropped into the West Midlands Premier relegation zone after losing at Wellington Amateurs.

The strangely lethargic Lockmen never hit top gear and had conceded two early chances it was no surprise when they conceded on 35 minutes when they allowed Louis Jones a free header.

Wellington stretched their lead when a 66th-minute break caught the visiting defence out and Gabriel Pavulik fired home. Lockmen face Blidworth Welfare FA Vase 1st round 3pm kick-off on November 1.

Walsall take the fight to Pitmen

Walsall Wood 2 Hednesford Town 1
BOTH sides braved the elements to turn in an exciting cup tie, with Wood throwing the form book out of the window as they disposed of their visitors, three levels above the Wood, but the victory was certainly no fluke.

The Pitmen put the Wood defence under immediate pressure but it took 11 minutes for them to craft a clear cut chance, Jamie Osborne in on goal, keeper Dale Faultless racing from his line to make a brave full length block.

Skipper Darren Campion was in the thick of things for the Pitmen and on 21 minutes he went through three tackles on the left of the box only to be forced wide by Lee Stretton, his low near post cross easily cleared.

On 36 minutes Harry Harris delivered a left wing corner beyond the far post, Stretton headed the ball back across goal and Taylor couldn't make the final contact.

Football

Then Steven Hayles broke up a right wing attack and found Corey Curriethers whose first time effort from 40 yards picked up pace off the wet surface and flew wide.

Two minutes into the second half Campion popped up wide on the left, cut inside and from the left of the box curled an effort inches wide of the far post.

Wood went ahead on 53 minutes, a ball forward just right of centre saw Taylor out-muscle one defender before running away from another as he raced into the right of the box, calmly burying the ball past the advancing Price to put the home side ahead. The goal subdued the Pitmen for a few minutes, but on 63 Osborne collected a ball wide right, ran across the face of the box, his low drive charged down by the hard working Wood defence.

Four minutes later Jamie Crowther ran from halfway before releasing Diggin into the right of the box, only for Stretton to stop him in his tracks with a superbly timed tackle.

Diggins collected a long ball out wide right, his far post cross headed weakly goalwards by Tom Peers, Faultless with an easy save. Ten minutes later a break down the Pitmen's left saw Campion's shot charged down, another effort was blocked, before Tom Thorley's low drive brought a full length save from Faultless.

A minute later Osborne raced into the left of the box, his low drive stopped at full length by the keeper, who quickly reacted to collect the loose ball, as attackers raced in.

Wood sewed the game up on 85 minutes, Tom Evans played the ball inside to Max Black on the right edge of the box, he calmly drew defenders to him before unselfishly sliding the ball into the path of Drew Aiton who calmly made space and rolled in number two.

On 90 minutes yet another long high ball into the Wood six-yard box saw the ball seemingly hold up in the wind, Peers shielding the ball from Faultless before forcing it home from close range.

Wood comfortably played out the five minutes of added time.

Wood made seven changes from Saturday's starting line up, but still turned in a scintillating performance, they deserved the win and the Pitmen can have no complaints.

Martial artists are in the medals

THREE representatives from Walsall Elite Martial Arts put up a good showing at the Tae Kwon Do North Midlands Championships in Derby.

Instructor Emily-Jane Arms missed a place in the final by one point to enter, winning a Bronze in the ladies heavyweight individual sparring division. She improved her form into the ladies tag team final winning Gold.

Tim Sheward dominated his individual sparring division winning Gold in the men's blue belt division, beating the current world champion in the semi-finals. Jashanpreet Magar entered his first championship at the North Midlands, where he fought well to get to the final.

Jashanpreet won Silver medal in the boys red belt spring division.

Walsall EMA continued their success even further north of the border as Aryan Singh was the sole representative flying the flag in Glasgow at the Scottish Championships.

Singh was able to claim double Gold in both the boy's red belt patterns and point stop sparring divisions.

The team are all focusing on the British Championships November.

Wulfs bring Blox down with a bang

Old Wulfs 5 Bloxwich 1
BLOXWICH went into their third game of the season confident following their first two convincing wins of the season but were humbled by a clinical Old Wulfs attack who were impressive in front of the Bloxwich goal.

Bloxwich started off the stronger team but could not convert.

Old Wulfs broke away quickly and took an early lead, much to the surprise of the Bloxwich defence.

After Old Wulfs got another on the break away, Matt Baldwin got one back but this turned out to be merely a consolation goal as Old Wulfs continued to break away quickly and take a commanding lead.

Bloxwich never gave up pressing towards the Old Wulfs goal with many chances being created but none being placed into the Old Wulfs goal.

Bloxwich can take a lot of positives from the game.

Students' big day at Banks's

STUDENTS from Chase View Primary School, Rugeley acted as ball boys for Walsall Football club's League 1 match v Chesterfield at the Banks's Stadium on Saturday.

The day began with a two hour training session and match on the artificial pitch run by the coaches from Walsall's Community team.

As this match was taking place on the special 'Kick it Out' day to raise awareness of racism in football, the children got to meet all of the players and hold up special Kick it Out banners. Then led out by Rhys Williams from Year 5 they welcomed the teams onto the field.

Lye-te goal snatches the win from Wood

Lye Town 1 Walsall Wood 1
WOOD dominated the first half and should have been more than one goal ahead at the break.

They were in charge for 60 minutes before Town started to make any impression on the game. A late right wing free kick into injury time by substitute Ricky Anslow sailed over everyone and into the top corner to deny Wood a deserved victory.

Craig Deakin headed a ball clear from the first attack of the game, Harry Harris quickly played a ball through the centre for Drew Aiton to run on to, his first-time effort just over the right angle.

On 13 minutes Deakin raced from halfway, found Aiton to his left, he chipped the ball over a static defence for Max Black whose first-time lob landed on the roof of the net.

Town's first effort came on 17 minutes, Damien Whitcombe running from halfway his ball into the box was flicked on by Ben Jevons to James Spray, his low drive taken at full stretch by Mario Kisiel.

Harris won possession on halfway, his incisive through-ball was collected at pace by Leon Taylor, Sam Hill stopping him at the expense of a right wing corner, Harris delivered the ball to the near post and Aiton's snap shot was inches wide.

Wood went ahead six minutes later, Deakin again powering forward from halfway before playing a ball to his left for Ben Evans.

He held the ball up cleverly, before hitting a diagonal cross into the left of the box to Aiton, who fired the ball across the keeper and in off the far post.

Football

Fuller was collected by Aiton, he played the ball inside and Black's first time low drive was deflected the wrong side of the post.

A sliced clearance out to the left by a Wood defender was collected by Spray, his low cross cut out by Kisiel at the feet of Mark Danks.

4 minutes later Harris intercepted a ball on halfway, ran at the defence before releasing Leon Taylor into the right of the box, keeper Damien Stevens with a brave full length block.

It should have been two right on half time, keeper Stevens came for and dropped the ball from a left wing corner, Taylor's shot was hacked off the goal line by a defender.

A minute after the break Black raced clear wide right, his cross laid back by Taylor into the path of Harris to fire first time over the right angle. Then it was Black's turn to go wide hitting a first time effort narrowly wide. Five minutes into injury time, Ricky Anslow won a free kick wide right, he took the kick himself, the ball sailing over everyone to nestle into the far corner of the net, to rob Wood of the win they should have had seen up in the first hour.

However, it's goals that count.

Smith tells players to hold their heads up in defeat

Walsall's new loan signing Michael Cain gets in among the action at Crawley

Crawley 1 Walsall 0

WALSALL boss Dean Smith today told his players to hold their heads high despite falling to a third straight defeat.

Conor Henderson's 89th minute free-kick condemned the Saddlers to a 1-0 loss at Crawley last week.

But Smith branded the performance as "outstanding" after seeing his side dominate for long periods but fail to take their chances.

"It was an outstanding performance," said Smith. "As an attacking force we created chances and all we have to do is put them in the back of the net.

"There are a lot of players with their heads down and I told them to get their heads up because the performance was very good.

"It's difficult to take because of the manner of their goal."

In a far better attacking display from the Saddlers, Anthony Forde and Romaine Sawyers were guilty of shooting wide from good positions in the first half. Adam Chambers and James Chambers were then both off target from close range in the second period while Crawley keeper Jamie Ashdown saved twice from Sawyers and Paul Downing poked wide from six yards out.

"It was not frustrating because I thought we were excellent and I have told the lads that, they were outstanding," added Smith.

"The only thing we didn't do was take our chances when they came along and we have been undone cruelly by a free-kick."

Clarke Leeds by example and fires home

Leeds 1 Wolves 2
SATURDAY's match winner at Elland Road was only Leon Clarke's second goal in 21 games since his £750,000 return to Molineux from Coventry in January, 16 substitute appearances making that record decidedly patchier.

But Clarke's first Championship goal since putting Preston 2-0 up in a 2-2 draw at Watford on February 25, 2011 – and his first for Wolves at this level since a brace in a 3-1 home win against Southend on November 4, 2006 – was arguably his most important.

It crowned what more than one player said was Wolves' best second-half performance of the season.

And the ease of his classic poacher's effort – a tap-in from all of three yards – was contrasted by his huge workrate from which he deserved his reward for a tireless performance after coming off the bench at half-time.

It was almost as if he was on a mission to answer or repay all those fans who have been singing 'If Leon scores, we're on the pitch' in the last two games.

Along with irrepressible man of the match James Henry, the sole survivor of Wolves' last win at Elland Road in September 2006 seemed to drag his team-mates up the pitch in the second half.

And while Clarke's winner ended the 32-day tenure of Darki Milanic – and in doing so eclipsing Brian Clough's 44 days as the shortest-serving Leeds boss amid the chaotic reign of controversial Italian owner Massimo Cellino – Wolves marched on.

History is created from the margins, but in the Championship this season, they surely couldn't be finer.

Wolves' second win in five days put them third but joint top of the table on points behind Derby and Watford, who both failed to win.

It was also the 11th game out of 14 for Jackett's side so far this season which has been settled by a goal or less.

Both Jacobs and James Henry struggled to support the isolated Nouha Dicko as Leeds looked the better side in the first 45 minutes.

Henry had Wolves' other effort with a shot held at the second attempt by Silvestri.

But Leeds led through Mirco Antenucci's low 20-yarder in the 19th minute that crept in off the post. That came after Steve Mori-sonsquared from the right.

The 31-year-old had earlier had Carl Ikeme flinging himself across goal to beat out a cross shot from which Alex Mowatt drilled into the side netting.

Six minutes after the first goal Leeds should have made it 2-0 but Alex Mowatt could only fire straight at Ikeme with the goal at his mercy.

Wolves set about dominating Leeds almost from the restart.

Wolves fans sensed a comeback and within six minutes, The ball cannoned off an outstretched Leeds foot then diverted into the path of Henry, who belted it home from close range.

Sub Rajiv Van La Parra somehow missed Henry's cross but the Dutchman started the move for Clarke's winner.

We must win - Chambers

CAPTAIN Adam Chambers has urged Walsall to ensure Saturday's win over Chesterfield is a turning point in their season.

The win ended a three-game losing run and moved the Saddlers out of the League One relegation zone.

Chambers acknowledges much still needs to be done before the campaign is turned around and is eager for them to now kick on and follow the performance up when they visit Notts County this weekend.

"We are hoping Saturday is going to be the turning point for the season and we can start kicking on now," he said.

"We feel that we are in a bit of a false position - we've been a bit inconsistent but with some of the performances we've put in, we feel we should be higher up the table. But you've got to win games."

Bloxwich shut out by stronger Eccleshall

Bloxwich RFC 1st XV 0 Eccleshall RFC 48
BLOXWICH faced a tough challenge travelling away to second placed Eccleshall, who have only lost once this season and scored 210 points in five matches.

Missed tackles in the Bloxwich 22 allowed the opponent's winger to touch down in the corner for the first score of the game.

From the restart Bloxwich turned over the opponent's possession, and with some straight running pressured Eccleshall into conceding a penalty.

D Palmer stepped up for Bloxwich and went close despite a stiff cross wind. This opportunity repeated itself five minutes later with Palmer yet again going close.

Sensing that they had been let off the hook, Eccleshall put the ball behind Bloxwich and pressured the defence into errors which lead to them extending their lead to 10-0 with a well worked try in the corner again.

Undeterred Bloxwich were strong with their ball retention and territorial advantage but were being let down by the final pass and poor decisions. The home side were penalised yet again. With D Palmer withdrawn through a hamstring injury, D Bottomer stepped up.

However, the crosswind took the ball narrowly wide of the posts. Eccleshall had clearly found a weakness in the Bloxwich side and went on to score three further tries, making the half time score 27-0.

In the second half Bloxwich went on the attack. After some strong running and good off loads Bloxwich were 10 metres off the Eccleshall goal line.

When the ball came back T Mclean put a cross field kick in for his son G Mclean, who gathered it and was unlucky to be held up over the goal line by the defence.

For the first time this season the Bloxwich pack were unable to dominate the set piece, with Eccleshall starting to get on top.

The two danger players for Eccleshall the No.12 and No.8 went on to score and create another three tries for the home side in the second half.

Despite the scoreline Bloxwich will look back at this match and will be better prepared for the return later this season at King George's.

Side lose battle of Potteries

Stoke 22 Walsall 14

WALSALL returned pointless from the Potteries as late scores deprived them of a bonus point.

Both teams made errors during the opening minute, a pattern that was often repeated during the match.

It was, however, a game of fluctuating fortunes. The hosts dominated the first 15 minutes and scored two tries.

Winger Sant and flanker Logan finished off attacks covering 50 metres. Rowley's conversion established an early 12-0 lead. But then, Walsall began to get control of the game with Halbert, Hickman, Benson and Ahmadiani making good ball carries.

They eventually secured lineup possession inside the Stoke 22 and then produced a superb drive which resulted in Dickson getting the touchdown.

The visitors were soon pressing at the start of the second half and this resulted in Stoke conceding penalties.

The hosts broke away to score two more tries. Logan got his second, and No.8 Hubbart secured a late bonus point touchdown.

Campbell brace helps the win

Sporting Khalsa 5 Wellington 1

SPORTING Khalsa kept pace with league frontrunners Bridgnorth with a 5-1 win over Wellington.

Goals from Lee Wherton, Brad Lawley, Marvin Nisbett and a Nicky Campbell brace were enough to see off the visitors from Herefordshire.

BRADSHAW IS HERO OF HOUR

Walsall 1 Chesterfield 0

SO the Andy Butler 'jinx' is laid to rest - but the new question looms: What about the Tom Bradshaw 'curse'?

On Butler's loan return last month, much was made of the statistics that the Saddlers had failed to win a league game without him in the side since 2010.

Especially when his comeback coincided with an upturn in results, his first game just happening to be Walsall's first league win of the season over Preston.

When Butler went back to Yorkshire last week, the jinx reared its ugly head again as the struggling Saddlers somehow contrived to lose a game they completely dominated at Crawley.

But it was finally put to bed against Chesterfield, as was Walsall's three-game losing streak, as they eased any pressure boss Dean Smith might have been feeling by climbing out of the bottom four.

Talisman

And that was thanks chiefly to the man fast establishing himself as Butler's replacement as Saddlers talisman - top scorer Bradshaw. His coolly-taken second-half winner moved the forward on to six goals in 12 appearances since his summer arrival, that one-in-two ratio all strikers crave.

And yet it's in his absence that his influence is most clear - Walsall having registered one point and one solitary goal from the five games Bradshaw's missed with hamstring trouble.

Smith said after this game

he felt those statistics were coincidence but, if so, it's a pretty big one.

No doubt Bradshaw was the difference in this game, not just with the winning goal but his all-round contribution, far overshadowing Chesterfield's free-scoring hotshot Eoin Doyle.

While Doyle was kept quiet and looked disinterested for the most part, Bradshaw toiled, hustled, hustled, harried and bothered. And ultimately got his reward.

Bradshaw's strike came just past the hour mark to settle an entertaining and even contest that could have gone either way.

After neat build-up around the edges of the Chesterfield area, lively sub Anthony Forde's low pass was flicked into Bradshaw's path by loanee Michael Cain and he dinked a cool finish over Tommy Lee.

Bradshaw, in truth, should have been celebrating a brace, having missed a first-half sitter, heading straight at Lee from six yards but such is the striker's confidence he quickly put that out of his mind..
